1 Introduction

The Government of Meghalaya is committed to strengthening human capital, promoting entrepreneurship, and expanding livelihood opportunities throughout the state. Understanding that a skilled workforce is vital for economic growth, the government has invested in a series of initiatives to equip its people with the skills needed to compete in today's job market. Through various flagship skill development programs led by the Commerce & Industries Department and other line departments, the government is systematically addressing skill gaps by offering structured training, supporting entrepreneurship, and providing financial assistance to aspiring entrepreneurs.

A flagship initiative under this skill development effort is the “Training Inside and Outside the State” (TIOS) Scheme. This Scheme is spearheaded by the Commerce & Industries Department in collaboration with MSMEs and private training institutes within and outside Meghalaya. TIOS is designed to deliver foundational skill training to unemployed youth and aspiring entrepreneurs, with the goal of enhancing their employability and enabling them to pursue sustainable livelihoods.

1.1. Brief on existing Training Inside and Outside the State Scheme

The Training Inside and Outside the State (TIOS) Scheme has been strategically developed to address the urgent need for skill development among the youth of Meghalaya. Its core objective is to deliver industry-relevant training that equips young individuals with the competencies required to succeed in an increasingly competitive job market. By facilitating training opportunities in established enterprises and reputable private institutions—both within Meghalaya and outside—the Scheme focuses on sectors with high employment potential.

A defining feature of the TIOS Scheme is its emphasis on mobility for trainees. By encouraging youth to access training centres with proper infrastructure, the Scheme provides exposure to diverse industry environments. This firsthand experience enhances their understanding of real-world industrial operations and significantly boosts employability. Beyond skill acquisition, TIOS places strong emphasis on livelihood generation, aiming to create clear pathways to employment or entrepreneurship once training is complete. The program is demand-driven, ensuring that training modules align with the current and future requirements of employers, as well as the evolving landscape of traditional and modern industries.

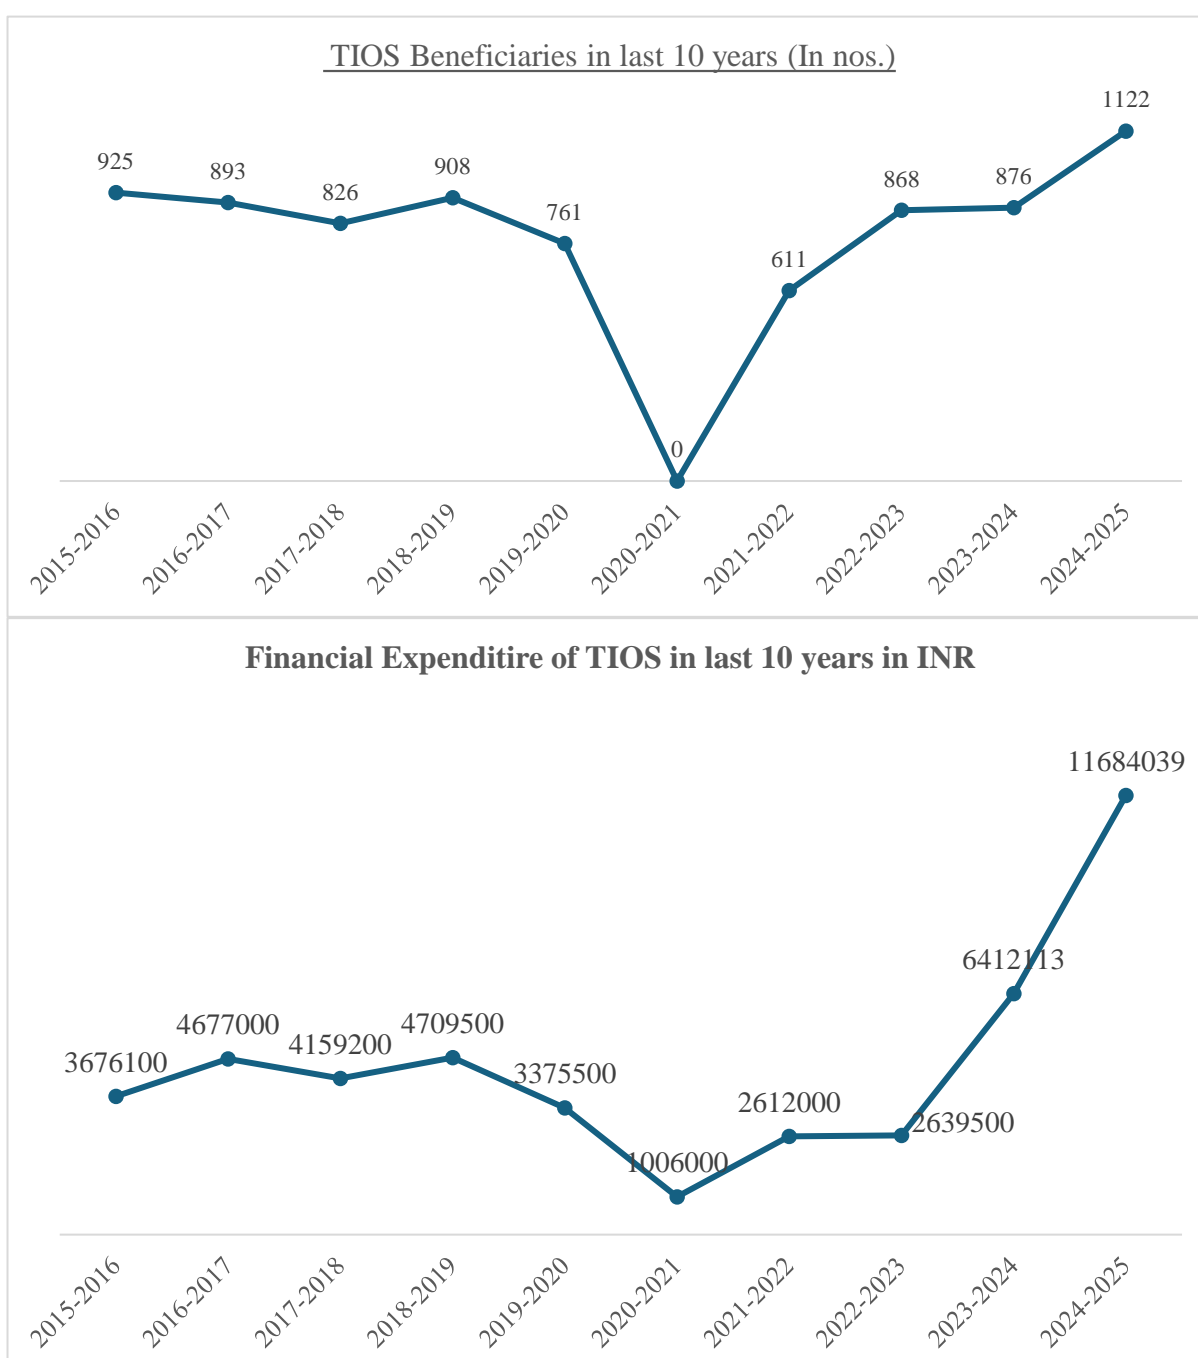

Priority sectors under the Scheme include food processing, handloom, handicrafts, electronics, woodworking, steel fabrication, tailoring, knitting, embroidery, and automobile repair—all selected based on their current relevance and potential for job creation.

1.2. Structure of the existing TIOS Scheme

The Scheme is structured to effectively cater to the needs of its target beneficiaries, which include candidates from 18 years above with certain relaxations for specific categories. The training is provided by MSMEs registered with UDYAM registration which are having adequate training facilities besides their regular production and at the reputable Institutes located within & outside Meghalaya. The sectors covered by the Scheme are diverse, ranging from electronics appliances repairing and servicing, apparel, metal industries, wood based, food processing, etc. The course durations vary with programs ranging from 6-months for short-term training to 12-months for more comprehensive curriculum.

1.3. Ten-Years Performance of TIOS

Over the past decade, the Training Inside and Outside the State (TIOS) Scheme has played a pivotal role in skilling the youth of Meghalaya. Since its inception, the Scheme has trained nearly 7,800 beneficiaries across all districts, covering diverse trades such as food processing, handloom, handicrafts, electronics, automobile repair, tailoring, and more. Financially, an investment of over ₹44.95 crore has been made to support training in the form of stipends, honorarium and institutional facilitation. Despite interruptions during the COVID-19 pandemic, TIOS has consistently mobilized candidates from rural and remote areas, offering them structured training opportunities within and outside the state. The Scheme has contributed significantly to enhancing employability, creating pathways for entrepreneurship, and strengthening local industries, thereby laying the foundation for the more holistic and future-ready initiative to update the existing TIOS.

1.4. Drawbacks of the existing TIOS Scheme

The Scheme has been designed so many years back and despite visible results where many entrepreneurs have benefited from the Scheme by mobilizing rural youth for skill development particularly from remote districts, presently the TIOS Scheme has faced challenges such as:

- i. Job retention post-placement.
- ii. Cultural adaptation for those trained outside the State.
- iii. The technical and Entrepreneurship knowledge is not sufficient for local enterprise development.
- iv. Under the Scheme an amount of ₹1500/- per trainee is provided to the MSMEs/Institutions for imparting the training program which affect the quality of training.
- v. Trainees are provided only with a stipend of ₹500/- per month.
- vi. The activities covered under TIOS Scheme are mostly traditional and conventional in nature.

Therefore, recognizing the changing socio-economic landscape and evolving industry demands, the government is committed to addressing the limitations of existing skilling efforts. The focus will shift from wage centric employment to a more inclusive, industry-aligned, and entrepreneurship-driven model, culminating in the need to update and relook the Scheme. This comprehensive restructuring aims to foster a holistic integration of training, entrepreneurship, and local economic development, empowering the youth of Meghalaya to seize better livelihood opportunities.

2 About updated TIOS

The updated Scheme is designed to meet the state's evolving economic needs, promotes inclusive, sustainable, and entrepreneurship-led development.

Unlike earlier models, it adopts an end-to-end approach—integrating skilling, entrepreneurship orientation, mentorship, market exposure, and direct financial support through financial support to enterprise / Institutions who partners on this program and credit linkage through Schemes like PMEGP. It targets both traditional and emerging sectors such as handloom, handicrafts, food processing, fintech, digital services, and agro-based enterprises. Training will be delivered through modular frameworks, EDPs, apprenticeships, and certified courses to ensure both technical and entrepreneurial readiness.

2.1 Leveraging Untapped Potential & Emerging Ecosystems

In recent years, Meghalaya has steadily emerged as a hub for national-level educational and professional excellence. The state is now home to several reputed Institutions from different Ministries, Government of India, which are of national and regional importance that span across diverse sectors—ranging from management, fashion, and hospitality to technology, health sciences, Electronics and applied arts. Institutions such as the Indian Institute of Management (IIM) Shillong, National Institute of Fashion Technology (NIFT), Institute of Hotel Management (IHM), National Institute of Technology (NIT), National Institute of Electronics and Information Technology (NIELIT), National Skill Training Institute, Tura (NSTI), College of Community Science, Tura (CCS), North Eastern Indira Gandhi Regional Institute of Health and Medical Sciences (NEIGRIHMS), and the North Eastern Institute of Ayurveda and Homoeopathy (NEIAH) etc. reflect Meghalaya's growing prominence in the national knowledge and skilling ecosystem.

These Institutions are complemented by universities like NEHU, USTM, MIT University, and MLCU, which further contribute to a strong academic and skill-building environment in the State. In addition, the presence of Northeast Cane & Bamboo Development Centre (NECBDC), Ministry of DONOR at Byrnihat, Assam located in the border of Meghalaya will boost in skill development for the artisans of the state, since it is the only National Institute specialized in the bamboo sector.

Through this Scheme the Commerce and Industries Department intends to take full advantage of the availability of these esteemed Institutes in our State for contributing towards the benefits of our budding entrepreneurs. The updated Scheme is conceived with this vision—to tap into Meghalaya's untapped potential, drive inclusive skilling, and promote entrepreneurship that is rooted in local strengths while aligned with national and global opportunities.

The updated Scheme will operate through two components:

- I. Individual Component: Designed for candidates who independently enrol in certified training programs offered by recognized enterprises or institutes, aligned with their personal career goals. Training duration: 90 days.
- II. Batch-Based Component: Conducted in collaboration with colleges and institutions to provide standardized, sector-specific training to a group of participants. The batch size for this component is 25 trainees per batch and training duration of 30 days.

This dual-track approach enables wider outreach, leverages institutional strengths, and ensures a deeper and more sustained impact across the state.

2.2 Objectives

Enhance employability through industry-aligned training and recognized certification programs.

Promote entrepreneurship via mentorship, and financial support mechanisms.

Bridge skill gaps in high-demand sectors and emerging local industries.

Ensure inclusive access by targeting rural, marginalized, and remote youth.

Strengthen ecosystem with quality Institutes, monitoring, and guidance towards entrepreneurship development.

Foster local economic development by linking skills with livelihood opportunities.

Promote inclusive growth by targeting underserved youth across all districts.

2.3 Focus Areas

The sectors identified under this initiative have been carefully selected to balance both traditional strengths and emerging opportunities in Meghalaya. Sectors like Tailoring & Embroidery, Carpentry & Furniture, Food Processing, Handicrafts, and Handloom tap into the state's rich traditional knowledge, artisanal heritage, and local demand. Training for these sectors should ideally happen within the state itself to preserve native techniques, cultural preferences, and promote local artisanship. On the other hand, sectors like IT Applications, Fintech, and Modern Furniture Design require exposure to broader, industry-driven practices and tools. For such areas, Trainees may be encouraged to go outside the state where infrastructure and expertise in innovative tools are more readily available. This blended approach ensures that the youth are deeply rooted in local wisdom while also gaining the skills needed to compete in modern industries. Below is the detailed table of the focus areas under the Scheme, including specific allied activities associated with each sector:
